

Greetings,

We know the summer is on its way, and you're probably dreaming of an island getaway, but we're already getting autumn vibes because registration for the 53rd Child Neurology Society Annual Meeting is now open!

This year's event will take place from November 11-14 at the Marriott Marquis San Diego in California, and you don't want to miss it.

Why should you attend? The answer is as simple as 1-2-3:

1. With a wide range of educational sessions, workshops, and presentations by leading child neurology experts, you'll learn about the latest advancements and current best practices in the field to better serve your patients.
2. The original research and abstract presentations not only provide knowledge about the latest scientific discoveries and breakthroughs but also provide a platform for presenting your own research, receiving feedback, and gaining recognition for your work.
3. Because the meeting brings together child neurologists from around the world, the opportunities to connect, collaborate, and exchange ideas with colleagues from varied backgrounds are unparalleled.

With diverse educational sessions, cutting-edge research presentations, and unrivaled networking opportunities, this meeting promises to be an invaluable experience for professional growth and collaboration.

Plus, the annual meeting is a platform to discuss important issues and advocate for the field of child neurology. It's your chance to share your thoughts and contribute to the discussion of how we shape the future of our field. Every voice counts, and every member counts because every child counts.

So, mark your calendars and register before July 31 for early bird pricing. For full details about pricing, registration, travel, and hotel accommodations, click the button below:
